Jail community pitches in

STAFF and inmates at the Junee Correctional Centre have dedicated themselves to the fight against cancer, raising thousands of dollars for last weekend's Wagga Relay for Life.

Twelve staff members registered for the event, along with their families, dedicating the last few months to raising any funds they could for the Cancer Council.

More than $3000 has been raised through a number of events held at the prison.

The events included a raffle of timber furniture and toys made by inmates in the industries centre, a movie and pizza night for staff, morning teas and an inmate cheesecake buy up.

Just before the Relay for Life last week the final donation of $1400 was made by centre general manager Andy Walker.
